LASS

Leadership Academy for Social Studies

June 2006 to
July 2009

Description

Beginning in the summer of 2006, Education Service Center, Region 20 (ESC-20) will work in conjunction with area school districts to create the Leadership Academy for Social Studies (LASS). Educators will have opportunities to enhance social studies content knowledge, incorporate best teaching practices into lesson plans, and create a “trainer of teachers” module. The module will be a staff development tool that can support new or veteran educators in expanding their social studies knowledge while integrating best teaching practices in the classroom.

In the summer of 2006, ESC-20 staff, content specialists, Social Studies teachers, and Social Studies coordinators will form a professional learning community (Cohort 1) under the Leadership Academy design.

Goals

- Provide opportunities to increase content knowledge of social studies.
- Provide instructional strategies to implement best teaching practices in the classroom.
- Facilitate the creation of lesson plans that incorporate best teaching practices.
- Provide opportunities for reflection and coaching upon implementation of the module.
- Facilitate the creation of a “trainer of teachers” module and a campus staff development plan.
- Provide opportunities to design a training module that will encourage the use of best teaching practices along with in-depth content-knowledge in the social studies classroom.

Audience

Leadership academy participants should:

- Be highly motivated Social Studies educators who teach students in grades 6-12.
- Commit to a three-year plan of implementation.
- Expect to learn and share ideas, lesson plans, and methods.
